Helping Your Organization Select Enterprise Software That Supports Future Growth.

Integrating enterprise technology with manufacturing, distribution and service operations.

When it's time to replace an existing ERP software solution or implement one for the first time, the evaluation, selection and acquisition processes can be overwhelming. Let our independent, experienced consultants save you time and money.

The ERP advisors at Meaden & Moore will help your organization define its specific business and technology requirements. Then, using our proven selection methodology, they zero in on the ideal software solution and technology partners to fit your specific technology, business and operational needs. Your risk is further minimized through the use of our proprietary tools, knowledge and experience within the enterprise software marketplace.

Enterprise Resource Planning.

We maintain a database of more than 2,000 functional and technological ERP criteria. Based on our research and experience with more than 100 leading ERP packages, we will identify technology solutions perfectly matched to your business needs, goals and budget.

Our knowledgeable consultants will guide your team through our process to ensure your organization selects the right software solution. Our experts can assist your ERP project team from install to implementation to support for most Tier II and Tier III software solutions.

Meaden & Moore offers a proven track record of success with service based on six tenets:

Objectivity – Our goal is to serve our clients independent of software vendor bias. We:

- Do not represent any software vendor or software package
- Do not sell any software packages
- Do not accept commissions or finder's fees from the software vendors we recommend

World-Class Framework – Meaden & Moore's SelectRite ERP Manager at www.mmpackagselection.com provides our clients with a web-based, collaborative framework for managing their ERP journey.

Research – We maintain our own knowledge base of over 100 ERP, CRM and accounting software packages.

Structure – We offer a structured, phased approach, based on a thoroughly detailed definition and analysis of your organization's unique business requirements.

Experience – All Meaden & Moore consultants are former industry practitioners with extensive experience selecting, implementing and using multiple ERP software solutions.

Recommendations – Our experienced consultants will assist your team in identifying software vendors that can become long-term partners to support your organization's growth.
